Lieut. Young Believed in France

Medal of Valor Awarded
Sierra Madrean Reported
Missing in Action

The Air Medal of Valor has been conferred on 2nd Lieut. Aubrey C. Young of Sierra Madre for "exceptional achievement" in the European theatre of war. His name appeared in a list of 50 names authorized by the War Department Monday.

Reported missing in action following the attack of a huge fleet of American bombers over Schweinfurt, Germany, in which 60 flying fortresses were shot down several weeks ago, Lieut. Young, a pilot, wrote his mother before that time that he had been advised he had earned the medal and also that he was told he was eligible for the Oak Cluster. There has been no direct word from him since that time.

Mrs. A. R. Koch of Ramona ave., mother of the young lieutenant, is much comforted and believes it will be only a matter of a short time until she hears from him following receipt of a letter recently from the mother of one of Aubrey's fellow flyers in the Schweinfurt raid. The woman wrote that a letter from her son told of seeing Aubrey bail out when his plane was hit during the attack. He was not sure he had landed inside the French border, but believed he had.

Conference to Plan Curb on Liquor Sales to Minors

In connection with the current campaign to prevent juvenile delinquency, District Attorney Fred N. Howser announced this week that a conference to consider the county-wide problem of the willful sale of liquor to minors has been called for December 7 in the District Attorney's office.

"One of the factors contributing to the spread of juvenile delinquency here is the willful sale of liquor to minors," Howser said. "I am calling the representatives of reputable businessmen and tavern workers together so that we may jointly work out a plan to punish willful offenders. The holiday season brings the whole problem of delinquency through the sale of liquors to minors into increasing prominence. I am therefore asking the co-operation of these established businessmen who are as eager as law enforcement officials are to apprehend violators and prevent flagrant violations."

Howser disclosed that Board of Equalization figures show that 28 per cent of the liquor law prosecutions during the three months period between August 4 and November 12 consisted of selling liquor to minors.

Funeral Services Held for Marcus A. Woodward, II.

Marcus A. Woodward II, aged 61, a well-known attorney, died at his home, 99 Suffolk ave., Friday morning. He had been ill a week.

Mr. Woodward came to Sierra Madre about 10 years ago and built the home where he resided. He was one of California's leading chess experts, a member of the Pasadena Chess Club and one of the organizers of the annual Murphree Div chess tournaments which attracted hundreds of chess fans to Sierra Madre from all parts of the west coast each year before the war began.

Born and reared in Pittsburgh, Penna., he was the son of Marcus Aurelius Woodward I, a prominent member of the Pennsylvania bar.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Helen Ward Woodward, he is survived by three sons, Marcus A. Woodward III, of Hawthorne, George W. of Inglewood, Forest J. of Alhambra, and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Jewett of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at the Grant Chapel, with interment in Sierra Madre cemetery. Rev. John S. Neal, rector of the Church of the Ascension, officiated.

17-Year-Old Boy in Jail for Raising and Cashing Check

Raising and cashing a check at a local store has caused a 17-year-old Sierra Madre boy to be held for trial at Juvenile Hall. The check of a large Los Angeles rubber company, issued in payment of wages, was raised from $3 to $93. Local police who took the youth into custody say he seemed surprised that anything should be heard of the check after he received the money for it. It all looked easy to the boy. Once he had the money he thought the incident was closed.

COLLEGE ROMANCE OF LIEUT. RAYMOND SIMPSON AND NANCY ROLAND LEADS TO THE ALTAR

A romance that began at Pepperdine College in Los Angeles led Lieut. (i.g.) Raymond C. Simpson of Sierra Madre, and Miss Nancy Roland of Riverside, Ill., to the altar at the end of the center aisle of Thornydale Milton Chapel at the University of Chicago recently.

Lieut. Simpson, of the Army Intelligence Service, stationed in New York, flew to Chicago for the ceremony, after which the couple journeyed to the picturesque Pocono mountains of eastern Pennsylvania for their honeymoon. They are at home now in Forest Hills, N. Y.

The young lieutenant is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond C.

Simpson of 700 Fairview ave., this city. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arthur Roland of Riverside, Ill.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, with a veil of lace, a family heirloom, and her flowers were gardenias and lily of the valley. She was attended by two of her friends as bridesmaids. They were gowned in pink, with pink blossom corsages.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Shoreland Hotel, Chicago, where about 50 guests were present. Dr. and Mrs. Simpson were unable to attend the wedding, owing to transportation difficulties.

Jeep Contest Fund at Grammar School Falls Behind

Collections in the "Triple Threat" contest at Sierra Madre City school this week amounted to $463.80, which brings the total to $4612.35. This amount is $1637.65 short of the goal. This War Stamp drive closes next week, leaving only one week in which to meet the quota.

In friendly competition Miss Pfahler's class took first place this week with $1274.15. Miss Newton's class was second with $1103.95, and Mrs. Gardner's class was in third place with $538.25.

For the "Schools at War" program, 65 tickets have been given out for bonds bought, and 50 extra tickets are being given to the school for the total amount collected for stamps bought during the two weeks of the contest. These lucky ticket holders will have an opportunity to see the Quiz Kids give their program in the Hollywood Bowl on December 4.

Sierra Madre WAC Ordered to Report

Mrs. Lillian H. Wood of W. Alegria ave., who recently joined the WAC, will leave for Fort Des Moines, Ia., Monday, December 6, to begin her training through which she hopes to win an assignment to the Medical Corps.

MANY WOMEN AMONG RECORD CROWD OF DEER HUNTERS FLOCKING INTO MOUNTAINS

Reports of the State fish and game commission that there are 10,000 surplus deer in the forest of Southern California took the greatest aggregation of hunters of all time into the High Sierras during the deer season in Inyo county. For days roads leading from the desert into all the canyons were crowded with the cars of nimrod, according to Mark Dailey of Alegria ave., who was home over the weekend from his famed Cose Springs health resort near Lone Pine.

"It is known that the number of hunters is at least 300 per cent greater than in any other year," said Mr. Dailey. "It is really a fact that roads leading in to the points where hunters have to pack in to the hunting areas were actually not only congested, but packed, and the natives have never ceased to wonder how so many people were able to make it with their 'A' gas ration books. But they did, somehow, for only five cars were held up by OPA officials at Bishop for prohibited driving.

"Also the natives were astounded at the number of women who are going in for hunting this year. It is estimated that at least 25 per cent of the hunters were women, all abundantly prepared for camping out and roughing it."

While the fish and game commission estimates the surplus of deer at 10,000 it predicts that less than 100 will be taken out by hunters and that many more than that number will die of starvation. It is believed that 5000 of the 10,000 surplus is to be found in the area between the Santa Barbara county line and the Mexican border where it is estimated about 500 will be killed in the December 11-31 deer hunting season here.

The animals are a familiar sight in and around Sierra Madre these days and have become almost a pest in the yards and gardens in the northern city limits. Herbert Dowling, conductor on early morning Pacific Electric trains in and out of Sierra Madre reports that almost every morning he sees from two to half a dozen deer grazing or running about in the Hastings ranch west of the city, sometimes racing along the P. E. right-of-way with the cars.

Children to Stage an Operetta for the Woman's Club

The Sierra Madre Woman's Club will hold no meeting on December 22, as this is so near the Christmas holidays. The program scheduled for this date will be one of two to be given on December 8. The morning program will consist of parts of an operetta and a musical tableau by the grammar school children. Following the Russian luncheon, which will be arranged by Mrs. John Fergus, Dr. Arthur O. Pritchard will review Eve Currier's book, "Journey Among Warriors."

Still Expect Air Raids On Coast

Army and Navy Urge
Continuation of Civilian
Defense Activities as Vital

Army Intelligence is still quite positive that before war in the Pacific is over the west coast may have a commando raid and an air attack, and the Navy insists that it is quite probable that saboteurs can be landed by undersea boats, Sierra Madre members of the Civilian Defense Corps heard officers of the California War Council declare at a meeting of the chiefs of service of the Fifth Mutual Aid District Monday evening. Therefore it is vital that Civilian Defense organizations be kept recruited to full strength and that interest in their activities be not allowed to drag.

However, practically every city represented at the meeting reported a marked letup of interest both in personnel and among its citizens, though it was generally predicted that when the actual conditions and still existing danger of attack are fully understood by the people there will be a change of attitude and a renewed interest in Civilian Defense.

Capt. Dave Andrews told the meeting that the Army is deeply interested in seeing that Civilian Defense activities be carried on everywhere on the west coast so that there will be no vain regrets in the event of a surprise such as shocked the world when unprepared Pearl Harbor was attacked. He said the Army is working out plans for mutual aid in commando raids and that much help will be required from police of the defense units. He concluded by saying that there is every reason in the world why Civilian Defense shall remain active, trained and organized to meet any call.

Or. W. B. Heagerty, chief of Emergency Medical Service, and Gordon McMillan, chief of police, represented Sierra Madre at the meeting at which it was emphasized that Sierra Madre, right at the border of the Angelus forest, would have to call upon outside aid in the event of a forest or other bad fire.—DR. W. B. HEAGERTY.

Proceeds of Dance to Establish Toy Library Here

December 18 has been set as the date for the Christmas ball to be given by the Woman's Club Juniors. The Rhythm Makers will play "the music you like to dance to." Patron and patroness are being contacted now and will be announced soon.

The dance will be from 9:30 until 1 a.m. Total net proceeds will be used for the Toy Loan project which is now getting under way. It is hoped that shortly after the first of the year the toy library will have its opening. Toys will be loaned out to all children of Sierra Madre on an honor system. It helps teach children, too, responsibility and respect for other people's property.

A Christmas party is being planned for the young sprout of the Juniors.—GLEAM DRURY, Press Chairman.

Post-War Russia is Society's Topic

On Tuesday, December 7, the Women's Society of the Congregational Church will meet at 10 a.m. for a day of sewing. At the business meeting at 1:30 p.m. they will hold the annual election of officers. Miss Marjorie Adams will lead a discussion on "Russia and Post-War Reconstruction."

R. C. Lewis to Head County Fund Drive

Sierra Madrean Elected to Direct 1944 War
Campaign of Red Cross

Rollin C. Lewis, president of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank and chairman of the Sierra Madre

ROLLIN C. LEWIS

Chairman of the American Red Cross, was elected chairman of the 1944 Red Cross war fund campaign in Los Angeles county at a meeting of directors of the county organization in Los Angeles Monday afternoon. He has accepted the responsibility and will shortly announce personnel of the committee that he was authorized to appoint to assist him in conducting the drive.

One of the principal duties of Mr. Lewis and his committee will be to co-ordinate the work to be done in the war industries employing many persons—airplane plants, shipyards, steel mills and shops and factories engaged in turning out parts on a large scale and to fit their efforts into those of the various Red Cross home chapters. This task includes the responsibility of seeing to it that contributions made by employees at the plants where they are employed are credited to the communities in which the employees reside.

Sgt. Donald T. Keys, radio operator and gunner, is home on a two weeks' furlough after completing a course at the Army Air Force Flexible Gunnery School at Laredo, Tex., where he received his aerial gunnery wings. He will now report in Salt Lake City where he is eligible for assignment to a combat crew. His mother is Mrs. Margaret S. Keys of 419 E. Highland ave.

Pvt. Charles T. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Smith of 196 W. Montecito ave., is receiving training at Radio School at Camp Crowder, Mo. He is taking a 17-week radio course, and has already advanced from low to high-speed dictation and has passed the Army test for mechanical radio knowledge. His letter tells his parents that he is well, and has gained 25 pounds since joining the Army.

Pfc. Herschel Williams, paratrooper, was home on furlough from New York to visit his mother, Mrs. Katy Eiting, at 196 W. Montecito ave. He has returned to his camp in Georgia.

Air Cadet Stanley Wood spent last weekend with his mother, Mrs. Lillian H. Wood of 221 W. Grand View ave., who has enlisted in the WAC. Cadet Wood is stationed at Santa Ana for his pre-flight training.

Seaman William Dewey of the U. S. Coast Guard will be home this weekend from San Diego. Also his wife, Madeline Dewey, who has just completed a flying course at Alturas, will be here. Seaman Dewey is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dewey of 810 Canyon Crest drive.

Staff Sgt. "Bob" Rigney was here on a short furlough from Greenville, Miss., to enjoy Thanksgiving with his family. Bob was promoted to staff sergeant early in November.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Embree of 535 Auburn ave. received a grand surprise when son Bert, seaman 1/c, walked in on Thanksgiving morning. He had come from San Francisco, and will return there Saturday. On Thanksgiving night son Harry (Roy) phoned from Camp Roberts. A letter received from Sam, carpenter's mate 2/c, from Hawaiian Islands, did not contain such a good surprise, for he is in sick bay, under observation for appendicitis.

Local Observance of Bill of Rights Week Planned

Extent of Sierra Madre's observance of Bill of Rights Week, Dec. 12-18, will not be known until tentative plans calling for a town meeting sponsored jointly by the Masonic lodge, PTA, Kiwanis and Woman's clubs, American Legion and Auxiliary, the grammar and St. Rita's schools and the Veterans of Foreign Wars post have been worked out. If this plan falls through there will be separate observances, at least, by the grammar school, where Superintendent Henry Korsmeier is arranging a program, and the Kiwanis Club, which will devote its Dec. 14 program to the observance.

Draft Lists Revised to Call Fathers

John M. Dawson was the only Sierra Madrean called in the second November call of the local Selective Service board on Saturday and now the board is busy reclassifying its list of 3A registrants in preparation for the December call, expected to be much larger than those for November and to include many pre-Pearl Harbor fathers. There are between 1300 and 1400 to go on the 1A sheet subject, available for call into the armed services.

In the reclassification draft boards have been advised that those registrants engaged in agriculture or highly skilled men in war industries shall be classed as 2A's. Into the same class may go those whose presence in the services would work "extreme" hardships on families, but it is thought likely the number of such deferments will be extremely small. All others, except the physically unfit, are scheduled as 1A's, regardless of the family status. All draft boards are required to complete at least 40 per cent of their reclassifications before Dec. 31.

"It's down now to where the local boards have nothing but family men to draw on to meet quotas, and that is the reason this new reclassification has been ordered," said Capt. H. A. Raider, Selective Service co-ordinator.

Capacity of the school is 315 boys and there are 325 there now, with 115 employees. It is not a penal institution; work is done on an individual basis with each boy. Two chaplains act as counselors and there is Sunday school and church every Sunday. Those about to be released are taken off grounds to Sunday evening Christian Endeavor meetings for a couple of months to aid in their readjustment to civil life. Boys eight through 16 years old are taken in and stay an average of a year, and are then sent home, or to a home if they have none, and back to school under probation for a while.

Slapping a boy down is not the answer to juvenile delinquency, the speaker said. In Whittier, most of the work in this field is done through the various facilities of the high school. It is all important to keep a boy's mind usefully occupied. Probably the underlying cause of delinquency is a poor family situation—either the family is not intact or the parents do not understand or work with their boys. Only those that can actually be called incorrigible are mentally off or psychopathic. Insofar as possible they are consigned to mental hospitals through the county, Mr. Spencer concluded.

Willos Hill, who was inducted in October and sent to Fort MacArthur, has been transferred to Camp Roberts. Willos is the son of Mrs. Collin Hill of 189 E. Montecito ave.

Jack Williams, who has been at the Navy Training Station in San Diego for some time, has been transferred to San Pedro. He is spending a few days' furlough this week at home with his mother, Mrs. A. G. Williams of 400 Mariposa ave.

Milton R. Blakeman, son of F. S. Blakeman, 117 East Grandview ave., is serving as cadet corporal in his squadron at the Army Air Force pre-flight school at the Santa Ana Army Air Base. He has been classified as a pilot and upon the successful completion of his training at Santa Ana will be sent to an AAF base for primary training. He was sent to the California air base from Lubbock, Tex., where he was in the College Training detachment at the Texas Technological college. Cadet Blakeman attended Pasadena Junior College, where he was a member of the rifle team.

Pfc. John A. Rutledge of the Coast Artillery was home from San Diego for Thanksgiving. He and his wife and young son John spent Thanksgiving Day with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rutledge of E. Mira Monte ave.

Ensign Samuel M. Schwartz is now on Naval transport duty, flying between New York and Kansas City, and Kansas City and Oakland. Ensign Schwartz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Schwartz of 287 E. Montecito ave.

David Roes was home over the weekend on his first leave; absence since joining the Navy. He is stationed at the San Diego Naval Training Station.

Inducted into the Navy several weeks ago, Julius Terhorst arrived home during the weekend from the Naval Training Station at San Diego on his first furlough.

Treatment of Delinquents Explained

Whittier School Head Says
Merely Slapping Boys
Down is Poorest Method

What is being done at the Whittier school for boys to curb the wave of juvenile delinquency was explained to the Kiwanis Club at its Tuesday luncheon meeting by C. G. Spencer, assistant superintendent of the institution.

The school does not believe that "slapping a boy down" is a cure for delinquency. Instead it aims to prepare youths for a return to civil life by seeing to it that their minds are constantly usefully employed and in many cases the young fellows realize the error of their ways and are headed in the right direction very shortly after their admission.

He said the school has not expanded since 1929, but the population has increased and delinquency, because of the war, has increased. Delinquents are more carefully sifted now and only worst of the lot are left to the school. Others are either put on probation or farmed out in homes. Many boys have actually changed their attitude completely by the time they reach the school, as being sent there with no privilege to come and go as they wish is the first real jolt they've received and they realize that the department means business. The boys are not hopeless by any means.

Boys are given three-day quarantine period or orientation and made to understand that the school means business and is there to help them and that their terms depend largely on their own conduct.

Every two months a boy is reclassified as to his term and given credit toward reducing his time for good behavior. A poor record results in added time and loss of privileges. Each case is reviewed before the board and a boy is given opportunity to defend himself. Each boy is personally studied by school psychologist, chaplain, principal and teacher, and it is decided on what course of action shall be taken for his rehabilitation. He is assigned to one of several groups of boys on good behavior, but may later change his trade or group if conditions warrant.

Capacity of the school is 315 boys and there are 325 there now, with 115 employees. It is not a penal institution; work is done on an individual basis with each boy. Two chaplains act as counselors and there is Sunday school and church every Sunday. Those about to be released are taken off grounds to Sunday evening Christian Endeavor meetings for a couple of months to aid in their readjustment to civil life. Boys eight through 16 years old are taken in and stay an average of a year, and are then sent home, or to a home if they have none, and back to school under probation for a while.

Slapping a boy down is not the answer to juvenile delinquency, the speaker said. In Whittier, most of the work in this field is done through the various facilities of the high school.

It is all important to keep a boy's mind usefully occupied. Probably the underlying cause of delinquency is a poor family situation—either the family is not intact or the parents do not understand or work with their boys. Only those that can actually be called incorrigible are mentally off or psychopathic. Insofar as possible they are consigned to mental hospitals through the county, Mr. Spencer concluded.

Some Lucky Person to Get a Painting by Alfred Dewey

Some lucky citizen will have the next meeting of the Sierra Madre Arts Guild the possessor of a new oil painting. The program for this meeting to be held on Friday evening, December 3, at the Wistaria Vine Gardens, is to include a demonstration by Alfred J. Dewey of the technique of oil painting. This will be accompanied by a running commentary by the artist on the technique in hand, during which members of the audience are free to ask all the questions they please. The finished product, a landscape in oils, will be given away at the close of the meeting.

This should be an opportunity for someone to acquire a fine painting for a Christmas present rather inexpensively. Sandwiches and coffee will be served during the evening.

Butter by Pounds— But in Washington

Wife of an Army officer stationed at Camp Santa Anita who resides here on Laurel ave. was tempted to hop a train for Washington the other day when a letter arrived from a woman friend in Washington, where evidently butter is much more plentiful than here. The letter contained the following:

Scene—Washington grocery store. Year 1943.

Customer: Would it be possible for me to get a quarter pound of butter?

Storekeeper: Sorry, Madam! We sell our butter only in pound cartons.

Don't spend your pay in competition with your neighbors for scarce civilian goods. Save, America, and you will save America from black markets and runaway inflation. Buy more Bonds every payday. How many bonds? Figure it out yourself.

Christmas lists are easily taken care of as I have a large stock of Chinese objects which will fill every need or desire.

Beauty's most flattering ally is Chinese Jade. This can be had in an ornament for the home or in a variety of useful mounted pieces for jewelry. Have you something to be matched? If so, from my large stock your fancy will tell you which is most desirable. It is such a satisfaction in having the finest. This is true of all lines of stock. ### WHAT WE FIGHT FOR Governor Warren, by executive proclamation, has designated the period of December 12 to 18 as Bill of Rights Week in California—and has urged that all of us commemorate the occasion by a re-examination of the ideals and principles which have made America the world's greatest citadel of liberty.

It is peculiarly fitting, at this time, that we should take stock of our great heritage—of our Bill of Rights, our Constitution and the whole fabric of our American way of life. For not only are we fighting a war abroad in defense of those principles, and our right to continue to live as a liberty-loving people, but we must also make certain that during the reconstruction period which follows after the war we shall not be led astray by false prophets here at home.

We have need to remember that only the strong, and the brave of heart, can hold up their heads and live as free men. We are an industrious people, who have carved out our own place in the world's wilderness, asking only the right to work and live in a free land, at peace with our neighbors. Other people, in other lands, when adversity struck, traded their liberty for a dubious security—putting their reliance in "new orders" and the strutting dictators who proclaimed them. But we, in America, know the consequences of that surrender of individual initiative and individual responsibility. And we must never forget it.

Economic freedom and political freedom go hand in hand. Let's never forget that. There will be those who will promise us "freedom from want"—and a dole if we are hungry. But when we lean on others, we must expect to take dictation from others. Let's remember that, too. No man inherits liberty, not really. Every man must earn it. But under our Bill of Rights and our Constitution, we are guaranteed the right to earn it. That's our priceless heritage!

TEMPTATION

The lure of surplus money in the public's pockets is proving an irresistible temptation to shady financial operators. Not since the "bull market" days of 1929 have the purveyors of worthless securities been as active with schemes to exchange fancy, engraved pieces of paper for currency.

Only recently, the California Division of Corporations found it necessary to issue Desist and Restrict Orders against six firms. All six operated as Canadian corporations in an effort to escape the "blue sky" provisions of California law governing the sale of securities. And in each case, the pattern of their operations followed a set design.

First, the confidence of intended victims was wooed by a weekly financial publication in which information was given concerning well-known securities. Subscription rates were quoted, but if the recipient did not subscribe, the paper was sent regardless. Subsequent issues touted speculative or worthless securities in which the publication's promoters were secretly interested. And finally, telegrams and long-distance telephone calls were made to high pressure the victims into buying the worthless stocks.

If you get literature of this type, consult your banker or Better Business Bureau before buying the securities offered. Or better still, if you have any surplus money, invest it in War Bonds. The U.S.A. is still the best investment in the world.

What They Say ---

DR. DONALD A. LAIRD, Boston, on California Town Hall tour—"The problem of adjusting women war workers to the home again will take care of itself. Women will be glad to let the men take care of them—provided, of course, that they can find the men."

ROLPH T. HARBO, FBI representative—"The number of girls under 21 arrested so far this year is 63 per cent above the number arrested in 1942. More than half are repeaters, and there is great danger of their becoming habitual criminals."

JAMES M. CAIN, Hollywood—"This morning I saw a girl without lipstick and that pretty pink mouth was the prettiest thing I've beheld since I got my Army discharge."

MOST of us at some time in the past have known or read of an outstanding character whose example has had a profound influence upon us. Mr. Goshorn has spoken of the influence of Francis Assisi in the life of Perley Sheehan. When I was a boy I was much impressed with the character of James A. Garfield, whose life I read in a book called "From Log Cabin to White House," especially with his being willing and able to teach algebra to a class, with only twenty-four hours start of the class!

In our column today we shall try to picture something of the influence of the "little poor man" of Assisi in Italy, as it has continued from the thirteenth century till the present.

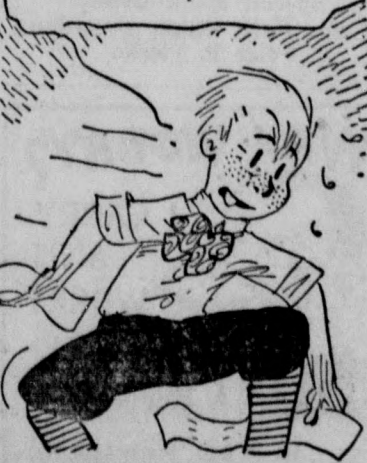

IN 1206 the young man, Francis Bernardone, leader of young folks in their fun and frolic, left his wealthy father's home and devoted himself to a life of absolute poverty and of service to the poor, the sick and the lepers. In just a few weeks his example attracted disciples. They gave up their possessions, built huts around a little chapel, traveled in pairs, around the country, working for daily bread, begging only when necessary, sleeping in barns and hedgerows, mixing with laborers, the poor, lepers and outcasts, teaching, healing, helping, preaching. People flocked to them, from nobles to plowmen. In ten years thousands had joined them and in one generation 300,000, covering every part of the known world—a mighty force of example.

It is easy to point out that the life of poverty, which was to Francis a joyful freedom, could not be universally followed, yet a little historical imagination helps us to see that he met a particular need of his time. The feudal system had all but died out; with the ending of the crusades a great development of commerce had begun, fierce nobles lived in luxury, towns were rising and poor workers flocking to them, the church of the time seemed unadapted to the social changes, and was becoming more and more concerned with temporal things. With the deepest respect for the church, Francis felt called to a literal following of the Master who went about healing the sick and doing good, yet had not where to lay his head. Francis Thompson, the poet, said the Franciscans were the Salvation Army of the middle ages, protectors of the weak, and teachers of the ignorant, and upholders of an ideal of kindness and gentleness in a century which began in callousness and ruthlessness. Francis' protest and example were needed. He has been called "the most spontaneous and unconventional genius of many ages," and "the second great Christian after Christ." There are some who think that through his influence human nature rose to its highest in the thirteenth century.

WITH the vast increase in numbers the original primitive life had to be modified and great houses arose where the brothers could work in simplicity and charity. And a "Third Order" of St. Francis was formed consisting of ordinary Christian people, living in the world, bound to be just and charitable. Altogether the followers of St. Francis are said to have done more to elevate the moral standard of the people, and more to make real Christians than any other institution that existed before the invention of printing. Some were great preachers like Bertold of Ratisbon (recently bombed), and others were teachers, scholars and scientists like Roger Bacon. On the whole they taught human equality, and the worth of individual however humble, and took the deepest interest in all that had to do with the life of the people.

In Romeo and Juliet, Shakespeare gives us a charming picture of a follower of St. Francis in the character of Friar Laurence, with his herbs and his similes, and his kindness and consideration for people's troubles.

THE followers of Francis also lived close to nature—all creatures were their "little brothers and sisters." Naturally legends grew up about Francis and the birds and beasts. Brothers sun, moon, stars, air, clouds, weather, water, brother fire and Mother earth, forgiveness and death are celebrated in his Canticle of the Sun, which incidentally is now translated in the new Episcopal Hymnal. This Canticle of the Sun, written in Italian, inspired the making of poetry in the language of the people instead of in Latin, and it was St. Francis who started the custom, dear to children ever since, of having at Christmas the Christ child and the manger represented at our churches.

Freed from the quest of getting wealth the Franciscans as the years passed could devote themselves to art and drama and the mediaeval mystery plays. In the 16th century they organized and directed the Coventry plays. One of these is given in the volume, "Everyman" in Everyman's Library. For centuries the Franciscans, inspired by the example of their founder, have contributed to the life, liberty, and happiness of the people. And we must not forget the influence of St. Francis in the lives of Sisters like St. Clara and her followers who gave themselves after his example to the same life of sympathy with suffering humanity and formed a "Second Order." Their money was given to hospitals and the poor. Their order increased till it was soon known throughout the civilized world. Their example was made familiar, at a time when people could not read, by the artists whose pictures we visit Italy to see, placed at first in the churches where the people congregated. The people drew inspiration from these glorious representations of saintly women, the stories of whose goodness did more for the cause of womanhood than all the institutions of charity. Today the sight of their successors, the sweet-faced Sisters of Charity walking our streets and hospital corridors, recalls us similarly to thoughts of a higher life.

A poor ranchman, a friend of mine in Wyoming, when critically ill was taken in Denver to one hospital after another and refused admission on account of overcrowding, till at last the Sisters admitted him to their hospital and nursed him back to life. I can never forget the impression they made on his honest human nature, when he would repeat with the deepest feeling: "My, but those was good women." Won't it be good when men, women, and little children in the war zones, hurt in mind, body and estate, can feel that way about us?

The man whose acts against society cause him to be sent to prison does not lose his love of country and his desire to help it.

Police Issue Warning on All Checks

Thieves and Forgers are Reported Unusually Active This Holiday Season

Chief of Police G. G. McMillan issued a warning yesterday to those receiving or cashing checks to be watchful for mail thieves and forgers who are unusually active this holiday season. The government is now issuing millions of checks to dependents of men in the armed forces and too many of these are being stolen and forged. An alarming factor has developed in that many of these forgers prove to be juveniles—both boys and girls in their teens. It is suggested that the following rules be observed:

1. Never endorse a check until you are actually in the presence of the person who will cash it.
2. Have a good, deep mail box. Have your name clearly printed on it. Keep it locked!
3. Whenever possible, have your mail carrier deliver checks in person rather than through the post office.
4. If you change your address, notify the Post Office immediately.
5. Cash your check at the same place each month. Cash it yourself! Don't send children to cash checks! This encourages juvenile delinquency. Do not fold, pin or mutilate allotment or allowance checks!

Those who cash checks are advised to: Know your endorser! Ask for positive identification. Never cash a check already endorsed. Require that all employees who cash checks shall initial them.

Polls taken among newcomers to the Pacific Coast indicate that 80 per cent of them expect to remain permanently. If this proves true, our state population might soar well past the 8,000,000 mark when service men return to civilian life and further post-war migration to California takes place. The question is: Can we support such a huge number in peace time? There are reasons to think we can. California no longer depends chiefly on agriculture, mining and forestry—we have added an industrial empire. It is true that much of this industry is made up of "war babies"—ship and aircraft building which will be curtailed after the war, but a substantial part is producing chemicals, plastics and light metals and are expected to continue, or even expand after victory. Mass production of motor cars out here may become a reality. We now have a steel industry of our own. And beyond the Pacific lies the almost untapped trade potentialities of the Orient. So there is every indication that we are building a sound, solid empire that may permanently shift the industrial and financial focus from the East to the Pacific Coast.

The man whose acts against society cause him to be sent to prison does not lose his love of country and his desire to help it.

NOT

to "try the train"

"We're pulling the heaviest loads in history, using every locomotive our railroad owns or can borrow. We're short of trained men, too. To avoid disappointment, better plan on spending Christmas at home."

S. P. Engineer

In normal years the Christmas season is a jolly time on the railroad. Package-laden travelers bound for family reunions fill our trains.

We railroaders have fun carrying people on holiday journeys, and we hate to disappoint a single ticket seeker... but this war year we really have no room for pleasure travelers.

Service men on holiday furloughs, relatives traveling to meet them, military personnel in organized groups, business men in war work—these people now have first call on our facilities.

This means that, unless you must travel, you'll be wise NOT to try the train. We hope there'll come a Christmas soon when our message can be different!

UNCENSORED

By LEONE BAXTER

With every industry pleading for workers and jobs of all types going begging for want of men and women to occupy them—how many people would you think collected their unemployment compensation checks here in California today? A hundred? Two hundred? Five?

Actually, nearly 5000 are unemployed and currently receiving checks. That, the Social Security Board maintains, is not many, considering the huge numbers employed. But in view of coming events which already are casting their shadows before, the figure is due more than passing note.

Reasons for current unemployment are varied: Firms are still in the process of switching from civilian production to war work. A few, already having completed their war contracts, are starting to switch back. Constantly improving designs in planes, ships and weapons necessitate retooling, plant changes—and consequent temporary unemployment for workers. Accidents, like recent ones in Eastern munitions plants, stop work and lose time for employees.

If in a period of peak production and saturation employment like the present there still can exist an appreciable number of jobless, the implications of post-war unemployment loom large and grim indeed.

Five thousand men and women out of work comprise but a small fraction of the two million persons employed in California today. But multiplied tomorrow by hundreds of thousands of returning servicemen and war plant workers suddenly dislocated at the end of hostilities—the figures will be appreciable indeed, both in human and financial aspects.

Finding jobs now for the future jobless—building local "workpiles" of public and private employment—is a task of unparalleled proportions. The only task to match it would be that of caring otherwise for the hordes of workers suddenly and simultaneously applying for unemployment aid.

However the coming crisis is met, it will be costly. To retain as much of the new, war-spawned industry as possible, to keep the assembly lines moving—turning out washing machines instead of tanks and household gadgets instead of shells—to make useful jobs where there were none before—are the problems of every community.

Every state, every city, every town, however small, will need to work out some kind of local "workpile," if it is to help take care of its own.

The cost undeniably will be huge and the burden heavy. But neither will be so unbearable as that of broken pride and crippled initiative of men forced to depend too long on doles and handouts and other forms of unemployment relief.

Helpers Needed by the Red Cross

The home service department of the local Red Cross Chapter needs a volunteer stenographer, one day, or two half days each week, or time can be arranged. Will anyone who can take dictation and transcribe, and can give this time, please get in touch with the Red Cross secretary at headquarters, or call Custer 5-4313.

Mrs. W. J. Colligan, head of the Surgical Dressings department of the Red Cross, urges that there be no falling off of workers in this department during the month of December. The quota is still high, and must be filled.

APPRECIATION

Editor Sierra Madre News:
On behalf of the California War Chest, we wish to sincerely thank you for your gracious cooperation and support throughout the War Chest drive in Sierra Madre.

It is gratifying, during this era of world chaos and dictatorship, that we as Americans can successfully work together in accord toward one great goal.

Sincerely yours,
RUTH MILES, Chairman, Sierra Madre War Chest.

Tokens Come Into Use December 15

Around December 15, the American housewife will have to start familiarizing herself with a new wrinkle in rationing—the use of tokens along with stamps.

Just what she is going to say about it remains to be seen, but here is the way it works. She will receive a book of coupons, each coupon worth 10 points. Whenever she makes a purchase requiring less than 10 points, the grocer will give her the change in tokens the value of which will be one point each.

Yes, it will mean looking out for a purse full of chips mixed with small change, street-car tokens and what have you. But the OPA said the new system was necessary because of the paper shortage, and in order to provide a flexible means of making change in points.

At least, the OPA in this instance consulted the food retailers before putting the scheme into operation, and in this way the retailers were able to help work out the most practicable plan under the circumstances.

While the handling of tokens may tend to slow down the service in retail food stores, it appears to be "just one of those things" due to war conditions.

MEASURE YOUR DIET

A graphic calculator has been devised to measure the food-value adequacy of your diet.

Campaign Launched to Stem Rising Tide of Pedestrian Accidents

In a "Stop it Now" effort to stem the rising tide of pedestrian deaths and injuries, the Los Angeles County Peace Officers Traffic Council has launched a Pedestrian Protection program in which the police departments of all 45 cities in the county will participate.

Cooperating with the Council, an organization of all police chiefs in the county, are Army and Navy officials, the California Highway Patrol and the Greater Los Angeles Safety Council.

Enforcement and education will be linked in the program which is keyed to meet the augmented hazards of the winter months. Stress will be placed upon proper pedestrian practices and upon motorists who disregard the rights and safety of pedestrians. Chief of Police Neil F. Anderson of Pasadena explained: "Pedestrian traffic deaths and injuries in Los Angeles county increased 23 per cent during the first 10 months of this year as compared to the same period of 1942. An influx of military personnel and war workers unfamiliar with metropolitan traffic conditions has added to the problem.

"The program, which has been unanimously approved by the peace officers' council, will enlist the support of the mayors, the courts and all other official agencies. It is proposed to have all mayors in the county issue proclamations, calling for public support in the effort."

Wilson High Pupils Buy Many Bonds

Woodrow Wilson Junior High School students have reached almost the half-way mark in their drive for $50,000 in War Stamps and Bonds, their record topping other Pasadena schools. The more-than-$20,000 invested before December 1 would buy three complete jeeps units, each consisting of a regular Army jeep, an amphibian jeep and a flying jeep.

No Homesteading of Desert Land Here Until War Ends

Recent widespread reports that land along the All-American Canal will soon be opened for homestead entry are erroneous, says official notification from Washington. The General Land Office and the Bureau of Reclamation of the Department of Interior stated that no lands will be opened for settlement until after the war.

However, it was stated that there is a possibility that some lands will be made available for cultivation on a restricted lease basis, the contracts subject to cancellation if legislation is enacted providing for homestead entry by returning service men.

It was further stated that "completion of construction work on the All-American Canal has been halted by war conditions and it is impossible to forecast when irrigation water will be made available to public lands it will serve."

Paper Shortage is Felt by Shoppers

The acute paper shortage was brought forcibly to the attention of Sierra Madreans this week when some of the local stores were unable to furnish their patrons with paper bags, especially of the larger sizes. They have been on order for weeks but the dealers have simply been unable to get delivery. Paper napkins, towels, drinking cups and other paper items are also becoming very scarce articles and local residents are becoming aware of the desirability and necessity of participating in the paper salvage campaign being carried on by pupils of the grammar school.

Army-Navy Tests for Students Will Be Given at PJC

There will soon be another test for the Army specializing training program and the Navy college program. It will be given in high schools and colleges, including Pasadena Junior College, according to the War Department. The test is open to make graduates and high school seniors in their last semester who will reach their 17th birthday but not their 22nd birthday by March 1, 1944. The test will provide an opportunity for these men to qualify for college training in studies for which the Army and Navy have vital needs. Graduates of the program will serve as specialists, technicians, and officers in the armed forces.

A pamphlet of general information which contains an admission-identification form may be obtained at the Guidance Office, Room 118C, East Campus of Pasadena Junior College. This form properly filled out will admit to the test students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive, who are recent high school graduates or who will be graduated by March 1. Intent to take the test should be made known immediately by filling out the form mentioned above and leaving it at the Guidance Office.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

First of a series of competitive drills by the firemen held Friday was won by the YB's by more than a length. The YB's, composed of those who are without gray hair, gave an exhibition of what a fire department should do in a hurry. Their opponents, the OF's, also gave a fine demonstration. Prize for the winners of the contest will be a chicken dinner paid for by the losers. Just where the non-contestants expect to get any of this chicken, the writer is without authority to say.

The firemen's bowling team battled it out last Wednesday evening to stay in second place in a league of teams from nearby towns. The bowlers are Heasley, Krinke, Pratt, Liscombe and Spears. They make a report each week on their progress and each night they are accompanied by faithful rooters, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. "Pop" Froehlich.

The Auxiliary firemen continue to attend the regular meetings and drills in good numbers.

Recruiting Youth Groups for Junior Citizens Corps

Over 30,000 application blanks are now in the mail to Southern California youth groups as a part of a nation-wide recruiting drive for the Junior Citizens Service Corps, according to Judge Robert H. Scott, chairman of the Youth Programs Committee of the County Citizens Service Corps.

The recruiting drive is planned to give actual home-front duties to the nation's 20,000,000 youngsters. Members of the Junior Service Corps will assist in war stamp and bond drives, make model airplanes for government use, act as junior lifeguards, messengers, nurses aides and perform other functions along Service Corps lines.

The youngsters, now identified with recognized youth groups, are being taken through their own group once their organization is approved by the credentials committee. Some of the groups who have applied for application blanks, include the Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Woodcraft Rangers, Junior Army, church and local defense councils.

Burbank Democrat Wants Hinshaw's Seat in Congress

Harry Bennett, Burbank Democrat, is an early bird in the local political field. He has just announced his candidacy for the Congressional nomination of his party in this, the 20th Congressional district.

In his announcement he says that a small group of radicals pursuing a rule or ruin policy has made the election of a Democrat in the district impossible for several years. He says the philosophy of this group has been "if we can't elect a radical Democrat in the primary elections, then let us defeat any other Democrat," and that he is announcing himself early in the game "to head off a repetition of these tactics." The primary election will be next fall with the general election a year from this month.

All "B" and "C" gasoline coupons issued after December 1 will be worth five gallons each, compared with the present value of two gallons for coupons of those types in the East and Midwest and three gallons in the Far West. This means "B" and "C" books will contain fewer coupons than in the past, but each coupon will be good for more gallons than before. No increase in the amount of gasoline allowed is involved.

Playhouse Holiday Bills Announced

To four far ports of theatrical call steams Pasadena Playhouse as the winter play schedule is revealed in a quartet of varied playbill offerings.

Fitted perfectly into the holiday season is Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" which comes December 15 to 26 to head the footlight foursome. Rose Franken's famous play "Claudia" comes second, slated for December 29 to January 9 to tell of the young wife Claudia and her problems. Third on the list will be "The Damask Cheek," the John Van Druten-Lloyd Morris New York hit comedy, telling of New York in 1909. Dates are January 12 to 23.

National premiere of William Saroyan's "A Decent Birth, A Happy Funeral" comes January 26 to complete the list. "Dark Eyes," current laugh-maker on the Pasadena stage, closes its extended run on Sunday, December 12.

New Low Grade Gas Likely to Require Car Adjustments

It may be necessary for motorists to have the motors in their cars adjusted if they are to get the best results from the gasoline soon to be marketed. Quality—as well as quantity—of gas is definitely going down for the duration. That's official. The octane content may go as low as that in the cheapest present grade.

This means that high-compression motors, which practically all cars now have, will require some adjustment for efficient results. Retarding the spark may be enough, but adjustment of the carburetor and other changes might be necessary.

It is estimated that the new gasoline will give about 20 per cent less mileage. If you're getting around 15 now, it may drop to 12 or less. It would appear that war workers and other essential drivers will need more gas to offset the decline in performance.

As far as the average motorist is concerned, we'll be turning back the calendar a couple of decades in car performance. With the new gas in its veins your car will take longer to warm up in the morning. Quick starts will be "less quicker," and hills will call for more lower gear driving.

A Detroit undertaker contributed an aluminum coffin to the local salvage drive, and in Deadwood, S. D., the wrought-iron gate of a cemetery went to the same purpose.

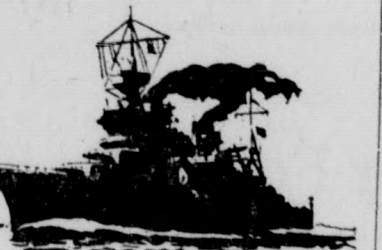

Mentioned frequently in the public prints is the "growing scarcity." Which seems as much a paradox as "many fewer" and "depressions' peak."
